About

NIRSAL Microfinance Bank Limited, commonly known as NMFB, is a Nigerian national microfinance bank established to provide affordable financial services and improve access to credit for individuals, farmers, entrepreneurs, and small businesses. It was incorporated as a private limited company in 2019 and began operations after receiving a national microfinance-bank licence from the Central Bank of Nigeria.

The bank was established through a partnership involving the Nigeria Incentive-Based Risk Sharing System for Agricultural Lending, the Bankers' Committee, and the Nigerian Postal Service. The partnership was designed to create a broad financial-services platform capable of reaching underserved customers and administering selected government and Central Bank of Nigeria intervention programmes.

NIRSAL Microfinance Bank has a close institutional connection with NIRSAL, an organisation established to reduce the risks associated with lending to Nigeria's agricultural sector. However, NMFB operates as a separate licensed microfinance bank. Its role is not limited to agricultural finance; it also provides conventional banking and credit services to individuals, micro and small businesses, salary earners, farmers, and other eligible customers.

A major feature of the bank's operations is its role as a channel for government-backed intervention funds. NMFB became a primary disbursement channel for the Agri-Business, Small and Medium Enterprise Investment Scheme, known as AGSMEIS. The scheme was established by the Bankers' Committee to support agricultural businesses and small and medium-sized enterprises, promote employment, and encourage sustainable economic development.

To provide accessible finance to Nigerian entrepreneurs and agricultural value chain participants through government intervention programmes.
